We have launched mygameIQ to a soft launch, so please feel free to download the latest version and let people know. I'll be contacting you shortly to work out the details of getting you included in the network if you are interested.

We will be doing a more publicized release shortly, but just want to get this out now in a soft launch mode.

The link to download the client is -

We have some very exciting games that we are finalizing and will be adding continually, so please check back often.

Also, please follow us on Twitter at the link below if you have not already signed up.

Thanks,
Rob
